

At Cromwell Architect Engineers, our mission is creating the greatest value for our clients – through great design, long-term relationships, and service for the life of a building.

Our high-quality design approach is responsive to clients' needs, but also thoughtful and inspiring. We create not only functional projects, but beautiful and distinctive buildings, taking pride in the quality of our design and commitment to our clients. Each of our designs is different, based on the unique needs of our clients and their objectives.

Our team is client focused, not project driven. Our work supports clients in a variety of project sizes across the nation and abroad. Experience has shown us that each client has its own values, concerns, and issues that shape a project and make each a unique experience. Our specialization is service to our clients.

A building project is often a client's greatest investment. At Cromwell, we know that a building owner will dedicate far more resources to building operations than original construction costs. Our involvement in the entire life of a building reduces operating costs, increases the reliability and life-span of systems, and retains the value of assets. We provide services such as facility management and energy services to ensure our buildings are efficient and exceeding the financial goals of our clients.
